

Political Involvement Policy

Balchem does not have any political party affiliations and we do not support political parties, directly or indirectly. Balchem does not make any financial contributions to political parties, political candidates or public officials. Any personal participation or involvement by an employee in the political process must be on an individual basis, in the employee's own time and at the employee's personal expense.